Mrs. O. A. Paulserud was hostess at an afternoon tea on Wednesday to the following: Misses Allie Shinn, Gladys Carnahan, Vivian Greer, Lucille Barber, Ruby Palmer, Hortense Winter, Margaret Slemantel of Canadian, Texas, Anna Purucker of Medford and Mrs. H. O. Purucker.

Elected Grand Warden

W. E. Newcombe, eminent commander of Mita Commandery No. 4, and C. W. Nims, standard bearer of the grand commandery, attended the recent convocation of the Knights Templar of the state body in session at Corvallis. Mr. Nims was elected junior grand warden of the Templar organization in Oregon.

Coming Marriage.

Announcements have been received in the city of the coming marriage of Miss Cora Judson Ganiard to Mr. Ernest Louis Reimers of Alameda, Cal. The bride-to-be is a daughter of Mrs. Sarah Ganiard and lived in Ashland up until three years ago. She has been employed in Oakland for the past two years at the National ice cream factory as head bookkeeper. The groom is a wireless operator in the government service and is located at San Francisco. The marriage is to take place at high noon on October 18 at the home of the bride's mother in Oakland. Miss Ganiard is a native daughter of Ashland and a graduate of the Polytechnic school here. Her many friends in the city will extend congratulations.

Archie Purves went to Montana Wednesday evening to accept a position.

Webber-Wright.

Mr. Arthur O. Weber and Miss Hazel Wright were married Tuesday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Wright, 143 Garfield street, W. L. Mellinger officiating. The wedding was a quiet one, only a few of the relatives and friends being present. Both of the young folks are popular in Ashland and are receiving congratulations from all sides. They expect to leave this week to make their home in eastern Oregon.

Pankey-Winings

Mr. Louis H. Pankey of Lorella, Klamath County, Oregon, and Mrs. Adda Winings, of Ashland, Jackson county, Oregon, were married at 11 a. m. Wednesday at the Presbyterian manse by Rev. Carnahan. Just a few intimate friends were present. They will make their future home on a ranch in Klamath county. The best wishes of a large circle of friends go out to them---both being descendants of the well known families of Pankey, McCall and Applegate, well known as pioneers of Southern Oregon. They go direct to their home overland thus spending their honeymoon on a camping trip in the mountains.

Dinner.

An elaborate seven-course dinner which will long be remembered by those who laid napkins over their laps at the Eggleston residence on Church street Wednesday night, was enjoyed by twelve, each of whom contributed to the success of the affair by bringing a "course" or furnishing "trimmings." The table was a dream of yellow, green and white, four yellow candles with yellow shades casting their soft light over the prettily arranged table. Hand-painted place cards and mint baskets were at each place. The dinner was not merely an achievement, it was a conquest, according to the young men who were there. Following dinner three tables of progressive five hundred were played, Miss Vivian Greer and Mr. O. A. Paulserud taking home unique prizes for high scores and Miss Clayre Johnson and Harvey Ling being consoled with laughter-producing remembrances for their low scores. Those who enjoyed the co-operative dinner were Misses Ruby Palmer, Clayre Johnson of Medford, Margaret Slemantel of Canadian, Texas, Vivian Greer, Hortense Winter, Messrs. Wilfred Carr, Andrew McGee, Howard Barrett, Harvey Ling, Lynn Mowat and Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Paulserud.

Plan Harvest Ball.

The biggest social event of the month is scheduled to take place at the Natatorium on October 27 when the ladies of the Auxiliary Club will give a grand harvest ball. Elaborate plans are being laid and with characteristic vim the ladies are throwing themselves into the work of preparation. Unusual features are being planned in abundance and a great time is assured. The committees which will have the various phases of the arrangements in hand have been announced as follows:

General committee---Lillian Patterson, Mrs. A. H. Praecht.

Floor---Mesdames P. S. Provost, Monte Briggs.

Decorating---Mesdames Henry Provost, Frank Jordan, W. L. Maxey, P. S. Provost, E. H. Bush, C. H. Pierce, Tracy, Homer Barron, Paulserud.

Booster---Misses Lucille Barber, Vivian Greer, Emma Joerfetz, Lena Casey, Lydia McCall, Ethel Davenport, Emma Jenkins, Mesdames C. L. Cunningham, D. Perozzi, J. P. Wolfe, W. H. Hosley, George Kramer, N. G. Bates, J. Alnut, E. Pell, Benton Bowens, A. D. Graham, S. Saunders, F. A. Griser.

Surprise.

(By One Who Was There.)

Mr. Rogers, the barber, was greatly surprised on Tuesday night by a troupe of the young people of the Methodist church rushing in upon him at his home on Almond street. The advent was in honor of his birthday and he was taken entirely unaware. But he, judging from his smile, did not seem at all sorry that we had come. The main part of the evening was spent in the brain-racking pursuit of packing our trunks and remembering just what all we had put in them. Some seemed not at all to mind little mixtures such as Mulligan stew, hash, garlic, maccaroni, limburger, etc., but Mrs. Douglass relieved our minds by putting in a bottle of disinfectant. The large, brilliantly lighted birthday cake was presented to Mr. Rogers by Mr. Douglass with an appropriate word of well-wishing. The number of candles on the cake gave us no clue as to just which particular milestone Mr. Rogers had passed, and neither he nor his wife seemed anxious to reveal the same, though they were given ample opportunity. Delicious refreshments were served, after which the crowd broke forth into song and could scarcely tear away from the piano, though the clock was just approaching the midnight hour.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Rogers and sons Ray and Ralph, Mr. and Mrs. Douglass, Misses Vernon Pyland, Ada Hartley, Jennie Tucker, Maynie Gillson, Edna Dahuff, Minta Cherry and Jean Anderson, and Messrs. Amer Weren, Rigg, Elhart, Smith and McKinney.

Grants Pass Postal Employee Arrested

After years of hard fight to find money to combat the disease which was killing his son and finally to meet the funeral expenses of his son, W. A. Newell, for years deputy postmaster at Grants Pass, succumbed to temptation and "borrowed" money from the postoffice funds, the embezzlement being discovered after it had run on for three years. Newell was arrested Tuesday, a postoffice inspector who discovered the missing amounts in the accounts making the complaint.

The postoffice man was a mail clerk running into Ashland for a number of years prior to 1905, when he went into the Grants Pass office, and is well known in Ashland. He was a prominent member of the Grants Pass band up until two years ago and visited this city frequently with that organization. The story of his fight against financial ruin is a pitiful one and much sympathy is felt in Grants Pass for the arrested man. The sum which the accounts are short is thought to be about $520. Newell has made a complete confession. He will probably be tried in the federal court.

Roseburg Review. Harry J. Hildeburn left here early this morning for Jackson county, where he has a contract to crush several thousand yards of rock for the state. He says the work is progressing rapidly and he expects to complete the contract within the next few weeks. Mrs. Hildeburn and child are camped near the quarry and are well satisfied with conditions there.

Miss Lama Dunn, the nurse from the sanitarium, was called to Portland by telegram yesterday.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of City Recorder at the coming election in December.

Wealthy Orchard Owner Passes Away

Samuel Rosenberg, owner of the Bear Creek orchard, and one of the best known orchardists of the valley died at Sacred Heart hospital at Medford, Sunday afternoon, of pneumonia, aged 56 years. His remains will be shipped to Seattle for burial.

Mr. Rosenberg was born in 1861 at New Haven, Conn., but for many years made his home at Seattle, where he successfully conducted various business enterprises, amassing a comfortable fortune. He owned a large clothing store, the Hotel Sorrento and several business blocks. Upon his retirement from an active business career, five years ago, he purchased the Bear Creek orchards, comprising 200 acres of choice fruit groves between Phoenix and Medford, and since then has spent his summers in Medford and his winters at Seattle.

Mr. Rosenberg was one of the most progressive citizens of the valley and his loss is deeply regretted by the community. He was one of the first to champion irrigation and other public moves and his loss is a public one. He leaves, besides his widow, two sons, David and Harry, who are engaged in forming on Rogue river.
